Rivermont[®]
ORCHIDS
SIGNAL MOUNTAIN, TENNESSEE

Rivermont Miniatures are small seedlings that have been transplanted from flasks into 1-1/2" pots. This designation is used to distinguish our smallest plants that have obtained leaf lengths of 3/4" to 1-1/4".

Each seedling has been carefully established in osmunda and its roots are continuing to grow without any shock from transplanting. Your order is inspected before shipment to be sure that each plant is of excellent quality as well as having superior ancestry.

By purchasing at this early stage you get the advantage of established plants without the high cost of additional greenhouse growth. The Rivermont Miniature program will enable you to buy many more plants of highest quality at a reasonable price.

WHITES

R-708 C. PEARL HARBOR (C. Bow Bells x C. Celia) By popular request, a remake of our famed Pearl Harbor, using the same proven parent plants of the original cross. Fall flowering, productive of heavy-textured, compact whites which have received much acclaim and numerous awards in the mainland and the Hawaiian Islands.

R-1586 C. BOW BELLS, var. Honolulu x SELF. Also remade by popular request, another self-fertilization of the superb, C. Bow Bells, var. Honolulu. The flowers are of exquisite form and substance, with pure white petals 3-1/4" in width and 7-1/2" in spread; the lip is large and ruffled with a yellow throat. Of the several plants which have thus far bloomed, photographs and comments rate this cross as "truly an FCC Award winner".

R-1770 C. LEAH ADIS (C. Clementine Goldfarb, var. Purity x C. Celia) The flowers of Leah Adis have won much praise for their handsome, well proportioned whites of longer-than-usual lasting qualities for summer and fall weddings, when the demand for whites is exceptionally high. Parent plants of the original cross, made twelve years ago, have been used in the re-making of this proven cross. Recommended for the amateur, commercial grower or connoisseur.

LAVENDERS

R-1742 LC. HYPERION, Painting Variety x C. THETIS, var. Rivermont. Two of our most outstanding winter flowering. The "flat-type" blooms of Hyperion are of very good form and very heavy texture, with amethyst violet petals of 3-1/8" width and 6-1/2" in spread; the lip is of deep doge purple, heavily ruffled, with clear yellow veining within the throat. Thetis is a consistant producer of compact blooms of heavy texture, having cobalt violet petals 2-7/8" in width and 6-1/2" spread; the lip is of deep doge purple, heavily ruffled with yellow veining deep within the throat.

R-1744 LC. HELEN WILMER x LC. KISMET, var. Robert Windler. Blooms of the Helen Wilmer are of lovely proportions and of very heavy texture, with rich lavender petals of 3-1/2" width and 7" spread; the ruffled lip is of dark, velvety purple and has slight yellow veining in the throat. Kismet produces similar "flat-type" blooms, having well proportioned petals of dark rose, 2-3/4" in width and 6-3/4" in spread; the large lip is of dark rose, ruffled, with golden eyes and veining in the throat. Winter flowers of exceptional qualities may be expected from the progeny of this desirable combination.

R-1769 SLC. ROSAMOND, var. Westonbirt, AM RHS x LC. PRINCESS ISHTAR, AM AOS. Flowers of Rosamond, var. Westonbirt are of excellent proportions and heavy texture, having overlapping sepals and petals of dark phlox purple, with petals of 2-7/8" width and 6-3/4" spread; the lip is deep doge purple, moderately ruffled with large yellow eyes and veining in the throat. Blooms of the Princess Ishtar are also dark, having overlapping sepals and petals of A-1 form and heavy texture, with petals of 3" width and 7-1/2" spread; its broad, ruffled lip is of deeper coloring with small, golden eyes and veining in the throat. A hard to beat combination, planned to provide quality-plus blooms for August-September-October flowering.

LAVENDERS-PINKS-PLUMS

R-1711 LC. WARRIOR x POT. RED FRIAR, var. Ember, FCC AOS. Another of the seldom to be found Potinara crosses! Of radiant lavender-rose coloring, flowers of Lc. Warrior are of very good form and very heavy texture, with petals 3" wide and 7" in spread; the lip is deep rose, broad and slightly ruffled, with yellow eyes in the throat. The awarded Red Friar is of vibrant reddish-plum, with attractively proportioned, heavy textured petals to measure 3" wide and 7-1/2" in spread; its lip is of deep reddish-purple ruffled, with golden veining in the throat. Colorful combinations in shades of lavenders, pinks and plums are expected.

YELLOW-SBRONZES

R-1728 BLC. WREN x BLC. JANE HELTON. A harvest of yellows and bronzes for fall and winter flowering! The golden-green flowers of this popular Jane Helton are of lovely form and heavy texture, 6" in spread; the beautiful rose lip, full and ruffled, has slight golden veining in the throat. Measuring 6-3/4" in spread, the petals of the handsome Wren parent are of pinkish-mauve, shading out to yellow-ochre at the edges; its deep rose lip is moderately ruffled and has small yellow eyes and veining in the throat.
